About Hilary

Hilary Russo is HListically Speaking®. She is a Certified Havening Techniques® Practitioner and Trainer. Havening is a neuroscience-based approach that can rapidly rewire the brain, build resiliency, and de-encode trauma and is often referred to as "CPR for the Amygdala®."

Hilary studied directly with the co-developing doctors of Havening Techniques, who have called her "a pioneer" in the field of mental health. She is one of only 50 certified trainers approved by the Havening organization and one of the first 150 certified practitioners in the United States. From children and C-Suite Executives to Grammy Award-Winning Metropolitan Opera singers, and military and media professionals, Hilary is on a mission to make emotional well-being easy and enjoyable.

Trauma-informed, Hilary is internationally recognized as a leader and public figure for her work in holistic health and transformational coaching. Often referred to as the "Chief of HUGS", her signature HUG it Out® Method uses neuroscience-based approaches to self-regulate, self-empower, and self-heal by finding the Humor, Understanding, and GratITUDE in the everyday.

Hilary is also a Certified Integrative Nutrition Holistic Health Coach, Hypnotherapist, and multi-award-winning journalist focusing on health and wellness. You'll find her at the podcast mic hosting the globally (1.5%) top-rated HListically Speaking Podcast: conversations of traumas to triumphs through holistic health, healing, and humor.

I had the privilege of hearing Hilary speak on secondary traumatic stress. She resonated with all of us as practitioners, coaches, and health journalists.
